

CLAFLIN OPTICAL CO.
107 F STREET
Old Masonic Temple
Lenses Opticians for Over a Quarter of a Century.
Manufacturers.
Ocular Prescriptions Filled.
Eye Examined.

GEO. D. SINCLAIR
IMPORTING TAILOR.
MAKER OF
RIDING BREECHES
—AND—
DRIVING SUITS
615 Penn. Ave. N. W.
METROPOLITAN HOTEL BLDG.

USE OUR FLAVORS
For Ice Cream, Custards, Jellies, and Pastry.
E. S. Leadbeater & Sons,
Wholesale Druggists, Alexandria, Va.

WHY
Buy new shoes when we can repair your old ones like new?
NATIONAL
SHOE MFG. & REPAIR CO., Inc.
Work Called for and Delivered.
Works: 403 11th St. N. W.
Formerly 442 9th St. N. W.

Sure Shot Bug Killer
Instantaneous Death to
ROACHES BEDBUGS
CROTON BUGS
20 Cents Pint
Phone
McChesney & Joachim
COR. 24 & E. N. E.
COR. 24 & F. N. E.

The Best of Meats
AND
Table Luxuries
FINE ELGIN BUTTER
A SPECIALTY.
DRURY'S MARKET
236 E. St. N. E. L. 497

ALRO GIN
FOR RICKEYS
Large 80c Bottle
IF IT'S GOOD I HAVE IT.
S. Guggenheim,
1632 14th St. N. W. North 813.
Free Delivery to 11 p. m.; 12 p. m. Saturdays.

High-grade Groceries, Provisions, &c.
Everything the best at less than the usual prices.
Prompt, courteous service.
Edward F. Davis,
1201 10th St. N. W.

BEE MARKET
Groceries, Meats, and Provisions.
HIVE
Home Dressed Poultry.
1141 9th St. N. W. N. 2394
EAT—SLEEP—FEEL BETTER
—USE—
NEAL'S DYSPEPSIA REMEDY
25c
THIRD ST. AND MASS. AVE. N. W.

Expert Electric Vehicle Repairing
Storage Batteries repaired and re-charged. Ignition and Lighting Batteries re-charged and Built to Order.
SOUTHWORTH KEISER CO.
Phone M. 2219. Rear 1220 L St. N. W.

UPHOLSTERING, SLIP COVERS, BEDDING.
Estimates cheerfully given.
MUTUAL UPHOLSTERING CO.
700-2 9th St. N. W. Phone 7500 M.

No Storage Charges for First Month.
Reasonable rates on storage, handling and packing. Estimates furnished. Expert service.
UNION STORAGE CO.
Phone M. 4774, 1911 Pa. Ave.

Comp. Bisan Tablets
Relieves Indigestion Quickly.
25c
Postage Prepaid on Receipt of Price.
HENRY W. SMITH, Pharmacist
224 St. and Penn. Ave.

YOUR MACHINE OUT OF ORDER?
Send Postal, and The Sewing
LARKIN, Machine Man.
Will Make Price and Work Right.
Corner 3d and H Streets N. W.

Two Killed When Scaffold Falls.
New York, July 20.—Two men were killed today when a swinging scaffold on a new factory building at 10-16 West Ninth Street, Brooklyn, plunged fifty feet to earth. The dead men are James Kennedy and Augustus Mula, both builders.

BOY STILL MISSING

Police Here and Elsewhere Hunt for Weston Ballinger.

The location of Weston Ballinger, twelve years old, who has been missing from his home at 115 F Street since Wednesday last, still puzzles the local authorities and police of near-by cities who were appealed to by the parents of the missing youth.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

Mr. Ballinger's father, the missing youth's grandfather, when asked if he places any faith in his wife's statement that their boy is being kept by a mysterious man, Mr. Ballinger refused to admit or deny that the mysterious man can shed some light on the mystery.

WILSON'S VIEWS

Part of Report

Stanley Committee to Incorporate His Ideas on Corporate Regulation.

Oppose the Gary Plan

Woodrow Wilson's views on the subject of the regulation of interstate corporations will be presented in the report to be made to the House of Representatives by the special committee appointed to inquire into the activities of the United States Steel Corporation.

Candidate Wilson believes that the Sherman anti-trust law, with certain amendments that will be recommended in the Stanley report, will prove effective in eliminating recognized evils in corporate management.

Through the medium of the reports to be made by Chairman Stanley and his Democratic colleagues on the Steel Committee, and the Republican members of that organization, the attitude of the two parties on the trust question will be outlined for the benefit of the country.

Briefly stated the Democrats will take this position: That the corporations shall be regulated through the strict enforcement of the law; that the Sherman act is effective as far as it goes, but that it should be supplemented in certain important particulars. The Democrats are unalterably opposed to the idea advanced by Col. Roosevelt, Judge E. H. Gary, George W. Perkins, and others that the industrial corporations should be brought under the same sort of control that is exercised by the Interstate Commerce Commission over the railroads of the country.

The Republican attitude toward the "trusts" will be outlined by Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, one of the minority members of the Steel Committee, in brief, as follows:

Gardner's Views.

That interstate corporations shall operate under Federal charters of incorporation as proposed in special messages to Congress by President Taft; that the time has arrived when industrial corporations should be brought under the close governmental supervision as the railroads of the country.

It is the understanding that the Gardner report will reflect the views of the Taft administration, and that they will be placed before the country as the Taft side of the story in the presentation of the trust question in the impending campaign.

In a word, the Democrats will advocate regulation of the corporations by means of the anti-trust act, to be strengthened as they will indicate, while the Republicans will suggest the creation of a new agency in the form of a commission to exercise jurisdiction over the big combines.

Woodrow Wilson, Speaker Clark, and Leader Underwood have been consulted concerning the trust programme, to be laid down in the Stanley report. These three distinguished leaders have approved it, according to a statement made by a prominent Democratic leader.

This member stated further that while there was some disagreement among the Democratic committeemen as to certain other features of the report, all the Democrats were in agreement in accordance with the recommendations to be made on the trust question.

Oppose Gary Theory.

It was pointed out yesterday that the Stanley report will place the Democratic party on record as opposed to the theory of Judge Gary, Mr. Perkins, and others that the era of competition has passed, and that all business should be regulated by the government.

The Democrats will take the position that the destruction of competition would be a bad thing for the country, and that to destroy it by legal force would be a step in the direction of socialism.

Mr. Stanley and his associates propose to take issue on the subject of the trusts, and they are apparently convinced that this will be the big question of the campaign of this year.

The report of the Republican members of the committee is now being framed. It is practically complete. A Republican committeeman said to-day that the conclusion of himself and his colleagues would undoubtedly prove startling to a good many people, and that it would propose changes in present law more radical than the recommendations to be made by Mr. Stanley and his Democratic colleagues on the committee.

Mr. Stanley authorized the statement yesterday that the report will recommend that the so-called "trusts" be broken up between the trusts and the Bureau of Corporations, by which "confidential" reports of their business are given by large corporations to the Federal Bureau, shall be abolished.

Stanley Makes Statement.

"We will insist," said Mr. Stanley, "that all reports and documents which are given to the Bureau of Corporations shall be also available for every legislative branch and purpose of the government. We will recommend an amendment to the law creating the Bureau of Corporations that the Bureau be required to submit all reports to Congress as well as to the President. Now the Bureau reports alone to the President, denying access of Congress or its committee to the information."

The section of the Stanley committee report which is aimed at the interlocking of State corporations with railroads reads as follows:

"No persons who are engaged as an individual or member of a partnership, or as a director or employee of a corporation in business, in whole or in part, in manufacturing or selling railroad cars, locomotives, rails, or structural steel, or in mining or selling, coal shall act as a director or other officer or employee of any railroad company which conducts an interstate commerce business."

Chairman Stanley and other members of the committee are much upset over the "premature" publication of certain sections of the report, and they are sure that there is a "leak" in the committee, and that those responsible are unloading the report piecemeal to influence the stock market.

The Kelo Free School, of Tokio, takes the young Japanese at six months of age, and after a sixteen-year course, it graduates him as a bachelor of law, of arts, or of medicine or of science.

CITIZENS TO

Hit Slayers OF ROSENTHAL

Continued from Page One.

Becker to Keep Place, Says Waldo

New York, July 20.—Lieut. Becker, of the "strong arm" squad, whose enmity for Rosenthal was known, has not yet been suspended, despite the accusations of grafting made against him by Rosenthal and his well-known intimacy with Jack Rose, who hired the automobile in which the man selected to kill Rosenthal went to the Metropole and then made their escape.

Police Commissioner Waldo said to-day that Becker would not be suspended until some "real evidence" should be brought against him. Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, however, intimated that he was investigating Becker's connection with the affair.

"Are you working on the theory that this killing was purely a gambler's job or that other influences might be mixed up in it?" Dougherty was asked.

"I am getting facts to support the proposition that others were in it, too," he was asked.

"Well," he replied, "here you have the man Rose, a gambler, working for the man Becker. Rose is engaged openly in the task of getting an affidavit from Dora Gilbert, a former wife of Herman Rosenthal, which will injure the character of Rosenthal, who is Becker's enemy."

"At the same time you have the man Rose engage an auto and gathering together a gang of men. This same auto is used in the killing of Rosenthal. Rose is doing two jobs."

"Don't you think that an old farmer with a straw in his mouth lying under an apple tree would be able to draw some conclusions from these circumstances?"

Zelig Is Eliminated.

Dougherty practically eliminated "Big Jack" Zelig from suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Rosenthal. He was asked:

"Didn't Rose hire the killers from among Zelig's gang?"

"He might have done that; but I don't think Zelig himself was connected with the job. We have learned that he went out of town as soon as he was released on bail after the last shooting scrape he was in near the Criminal Courts Building, and his lawyer assured us that he will be back on Monday, ready to stand trial if his case comes on."

Dougherty admitted that several points in the story told by Jack Rose were found to be weak. "Bridge" Webber, supposedly a friend of Rose, visited some of the police officers in the gray automobile dressed young women, and talked with Dougherty. Webber made admissions that broke down at least part of Rose's story.

"I have learned," said Dougherty after Webber's departure, "that Rose's story about where he went last Monday night is not altogether true. He said that when he was in the gray automobile he went into his friend 'Bridge's' and played poker for a time. Then he walked out toward Forty-second Street and Broadway and was on that corner when he was informed that Rosenthal had been killed."

Webber Refutes Story.

"Bridge" Webber to-day declares that Jack Rose did not go into his house that night.

Dougherty said he had not discovered exactly where Rose was at the time he said he was in Webber's, but he might have been much nearer to the scene of the crime.

"Shapiro, the chauffeur of the gray car, tells me," said the deputy, "that he saw Rose and somebody else walking along Sixth Avenue toward Forty-third Street, at about 11 o'clock, and that just as he was starting to take the car around in front of the Metropole."

Dougherty also said that Rose had not satisfactorily explained how he learned where the shooting took place, and that against Rose is a uniformed police officer in front of the state-colored automobile, told Dougherty that instead of being dismissed by Rose at Webber's, he was told by Rose to go to the Metropole, and that while he was preparing to drive around there he saw Rose and somebody else walking in the same general direction.

It became known that a score or more of witnesses have been subpoenaed by District Attorney Whitman to appear before the grand jury Monday morning. It is expected that much information will be obtained from them.

The police, it is said, do not know who they are.

Witness to Tell Story.

Accusing the police of deliberately allowing the men who shot Gambler Rosenthal to death five nights ago to escape; declaring that the uniformed officers refused his testimony and ignored other passers-by who saw the shooting, an eyewitness of the killing in front of the Hotel Metropole will tell his story on Monday to District Attorney Whitman.

This man who had spoken of what he saw to friends has been threatened by the loss of his position, which is a responsible one, and even with bodily injury if he told what he knew.

He said: "When the murderers fled from Rosenthal's fallen body the last man of the four was not more than sixty feet from a uniformed police officer. This officer made no attempt to overtake the slayers, who fled to their auto. The last man of the murder party was calling to the others to wait for him, and the policeman, who could have caught this man, or who could have shot him, merely shouted for a taxi, instead of attempting to fire on the assassins."

To Subpoena Slinger.

"When I offered my story to an officer, and gave my opinion of the actions of the police, I was told that I did not need to come to the Forty-seventh Street station, or to give any further evidence."

"A little newspaper who tried to tell Rosenthal a paper at the very moment in which the latter was shot was ordered to shut his trap by another and larger boy. The small boy is well known on this corner; the police could have had his testimony, but they made no effort to take it. He will talk to the district attorney when it is necessary."

"If the police had wanted witnesses they could have secured fifty, for a large crowd of persons was passing within 50 to 100 feet of the spot when the shooting took place. Some of them must have seen the man killed."

Detectives of the Burns agency are looking for Miss Artie Hall, who was singing in the dining room of the Hotel Metropole when the music was suddenly hushed by the shots of the pistol that murdered Herman Rosenthal.

Although Miss Hall did not witness the shooting it is believed she will be of great aid in identifying the persons who passed in and out just before Rosenthal was summoned to the street to meet his death.

JAPANESE JUNK TOSSED BY WINDS

Driven Across the Pacific Its Crew of Five Are Now Federal Prisoners.

San Diego, Cal., July 20.—Blown off the coast of Japan by a typhoon three months ago, caught in the grip of the Japanese current and trade winds, and swept more than 7,000 miles across the Pacific, the junk Sumiyoshi Maru brought its crew of five Japanese through winter cold, summer's heat, sunshine, and storm until its barnacle-covered, water-logged hull and sinking sail flew in shreds on the South California coast near Escondido, thirty-five miles north of San Diego, Thursday night. To-day the Japanese are prisoners of the Federal government.

With all hope of proceeding further in their sinking ship gone, the five sailors took to their own small boat and made their way to shore. There they fell into the hands of the immigration authorities.

The shipwrecked foreigners were making their way toward Escondido when overtaken and arrested by immigration inspectors.

They were brought to San Diego and placed in prison on the charge of being illegally in this country. A report of the capture was sent to Washington, and pending advice from the Department of Commerce and Labor the Japanese will be held as prisoners.

The junk was on a fishing cruise from Yokohama to Hakodate when caught in the typhoon and blown to sea.

BE PREPARED FOR THAT SUMMER VACATION

You Will Need at Least One New Suit. THEN LET US SUIT YOU. There Is Satisfaction in

GOOD TAILORING

Good Workmanship, Correct Styles, Perfect Fit, and Exclusive Designs Is what Our Reputation Is Built On.

Our WORK Is Right and Our PRICES Right.

MAX NEEDLE & CO.,
Merchant Tailors,
437 Seventh St. N. W.
Phone M. 4239.

MANY COMPLAINTS OVER CAR SERVICE

Continued from Page One.

way during the long trip from the city. "I have talked the situation over with Mr. Eddy, secretary of the District Electric Railway Commission, and have requested that he lend his efforts toward the issuance of an order by the commission requiring the Capital Traction Company to operate more cars. He has explained to me that the railway companies consider the matter of operating additional cars an injustice to them because of the fact that the extra service would be required for only about an hour or two in the morning and evening and that during the interim the conductors and motormen would be unemployed."

Only Real Solution.

"Of course, the operation of more cars is the only real solution of the problem of crowding, but I have a plan which, if pursued, would remedy conditions to a great extent. Careful observation shows that the traffic on the Navy Yard line after it turns off Pennsylvania Avenue down Eighth Street Southeast is light compared to that on the cars running through to Seventeenth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue."

"I would suggest that prospective passengers who wish to board a Pennsylvania Avenue car and alight at some point west of Eighth Street East take the car marked 'Navy Yard.' If this programme were observed by the people, the persons who live at the extreme end of Pennsylvania Avenue would not be compelled to stand during most of the trips."

Although W. H. Richardson, president of the Benning Citizens' Association and one of the prominent members of the Federation of Citizens' Associations, is of the opinion that the car service to Benning and Kenilworth is as good, if not better, than any other suburban service in the city, he believes that additional cars should be operated during the rush hours.

"On the whole Benning car service is first rate," said Mr. Richardson last night. "Conditions have been greatly improved of late. Still, the cars are crowded during the hours when business men and laborers are going to and from their places of employment, and additional cars would be welcomed. There are many laboring men living on the Benning line and this is one of the causes of the crowded conditions during the rush hours of the morning and evening."

Complaints from Northeast.

"Many complaints are heard in this section of the city over the crowded condition of cars going to the northeast. The Chief of Police Henry W. Macon has refused a permit for an Industrial Workers of the World parade.

ZAPATISTA REBELS WRECK RAILWAY TRAIN AND KILL SIXTY PERSONS

Mexico City, July 20.—Fifteen hundred Zapatista rebels, led by Emiliano Zapata in person, attacked a passenger train between this city and Cuernavaca, capital of the State of Morelos, thirty miles south of Mexico City, this morning, killing more than sixty persons.

The train, the first one which has been run any distance over the Cuernavaca division for more than six months, was wrecked by the rebels.

Clark Men Invited to Meeting.

Gov. Wilson has invited Senators Stone and Reed of Missouri, who were Speaker Clark's chief campaign managers in the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination, to come to St. Louis to-morrow to discuss the situation.